D. Waiver of Liability

Under Kentucky law, a farm animal activity sponsor, farm animal professional or other person does not have the duty to eliminate all risks of injury of participation in farm animal activities. There are inherent risks of injury that you voluntarily accept if you participate in farm animal activities.

KRS 247.4027

The General Assembly finds that activities involving the use and exhibition of farm animals are engaged in by a large number of citizens of Kentucky and that these activities also attract to Kentucky a large number of nonresidents, significantly contributing to the economy of Kentucky. Since it is recognized that there are inherent risks in working with, exhibiting, and using farm animals which should be understood by participants in farm animal activities and which are essentially impossible for owners of farm animals or sponsors of farm animal activities to eliminate, it is the purpose of this waiver to instruct persons voluntarily engaging in farm animal activities of the potential risks inherent in the activities. KRS 247.401

A farm animal activity participant shall act in a safe and responsible manner at all times to avoid injury to the participant and others and to be aware of risks inherent in farm animal activities to the best of the participant's ability. KRS 247.4019

"Inherent risks of farm animal activities" means dangers or conditions which are an integral part of farm animal activities, including, but not limited to;

- (a) The propensity of a farm animal to behave in ways that may result in injury, harm, or death to persons around them;
- (b) The unpredictability of the reaction of a farm animal to sounds, sudden movement, and unfamiliar objects, persons, or other animals;
- (c) Certain hazards such as surface and subsurface conditions;
- (d) Collisions with other farm animals or objects; and
- (e) The potential of a participant to act in a negligent manner that may contribute to injury to the participant or others, such as failing to maintain control over a farm animal or not acting within his or her ability; KRS 247.402
